THE VICAR WRITES:

Excitement abounds this month as Sunday 30th April sees the opening of the new tea season at church.

We look forward to the start of the season with much anticipation. New cake recipes to debut, old friends to catch up with after the long winter break but most of all, the chance to provide hospitality to those in the local community that visit us on a Sunday afternoon.

This church has a particular gift for hospitality, as it should, for we serve an immensely hospitable God. Indeed Jesus' first recorded miracle is one of hospitality as he turned water into wine at a wedding in Cana in Galilee. (John 2:1-11)

Now on the surface this might seem like a trivial thing to do as a starting point to ministry; after all later on he heals the sick, feeds many thousands and even raises a few people from the dead, so what's so special about stopping a wedding feast running dry of alcohol?

Well I think that, as a starting point, this shows us a leader who values hospitality above all and knows that the way that people are welcomed and treated is one of the most important ministries there is. Given the very hot climate, the lack of clean water, the large number of guests, and the great length (5 days +) of wedding feasts in Jesus day, the lack of wine at this wedding was a serious problem. The fact that the hosts could not provide what the guests needed was a failure in hospitality that would bring shame on them.

Now it would be easy to blame them for that – after all should they not have got enough? But actually it may not have been entirely their fault. Because of the size and scale of these weddings it was custom for guests to bring wedding gifts in the form of food and drink to share the burden of providing for such a large group. Thus, the family's lack of wine may indicate a lack of community support in addition to their own lack of provision.

In that context Jesus' actions are that of a friend and faithful community member and the provision of wine a sign of shared hospitality.

But alongside that we have the additional provision that the wine he provides is of the highest quality. This was counter to what would have been expected – where the more mediocre vintages were served at the end when people may have not noticed the lack of quality so much.

Jesus brings a surprising abundance of fine wine. So, his hospitality is not only timely – it's incredibly lavish.

The beginning of Jesus' ministry marks the start of God's new work in the world that has been long-awaited. This miracle leads us to expect surprisingly good and abundant things to come as Jesus starts work.

So whilst starting the story of Jesus ministry with a provision of wine at a wedding feast, may seem, on the surface, rather trivial, when we examine it more closely we can see that in doing so Jesus is showing all who care to see that he is beginning the ministry of radical hospitality and generosity that would be the hallmark of God's new world order.

Now we may not be able to provide such a lavish abundance of wine on a Sunday afternoon but the tea and cake are plentiful and the welcome warm and friendly as we seek to imitate our hospitable God as we throw open the doors to all that wish to enter.

We look forward to seeing you there!

Blessings, Rev Jane Y

CHURCHWARDEN'S CHATTER

This is the last of my articles for Churchwarden's Chatter after many years; following last months' APCM my term of office came to an end.

I would like to thank all those who have helped and advised me while in office enabling us to complete a number of much needed projects. May I wish those who take up the challenge for the post all the best as our church, parish and congregation need you for the future.

Do not forget to book your place for the Community Spring Lunch on 17th May by ringing Pauline (also ring if you have to cancel for whatever reason). Warmer weather should be on its way! Home cooked meats (vegetarian options available) with full salad accompaniment, dessert and tea/coffee, all for £8.

GROWERS CORNER

Summer is on it's way but we still have to worry about late frosts. Plants out of the greenhouse/cold frame must be hardened off before planting out.

Keep an eye on your early potatoes so that the leaves do not get burnt by frost so cover them with soil by hoeing, balking up as and when needed.

Now is the time to plant up your summer baskets and movable containers if you have not done so already. Broad bean plant tops steamed make a change on your plate at dinner time, also purple sprouting if you grow your own. Note: purple sprouting is frost hardy but very slow growing so plant out in late spring but net them against the cabbage white butterflies and pigeons.

What do you expect from your lawns? Are you going to spend 4 hours a day for a RHS finish or is it to be 2 hours max every 8-10 days for family use wear and tear? Do not mow too short; with our warmer summers of late your lawn will go brown and take months to come back to green.

We had a wonderful display of daffodils this year in the churchyard. To ensure we get something similar next season just nip off the dead flowers and seeds and do not cut back the leaves until July/August. This will allow for all the goodness to go back down to the bulbs for the next season's show.

GARDENERS NOTE Free bagged compost ready for collection: ring 07960 809799.

Any donation to the church fabric fund would be appreciated. Thank you.

CRAFT FAIR

in Upshire Village Hall.

Refreshments available.

Free entry.

Everyone welcome.

UPSHIRE MOTHERS' UNION

English for Women is another Mothers' Union project that the Upshire branch supported this year. The English for Women project was set up in 2015 by Heike Prentice, an Ordinand at Chelmsford Cathedral, after a chance meeting with a family from Afghanistan. The project was gifted to the community and taken under the wing of Mothers' Union.

The English for Women project makes a difference to those in communities who encounter language barriers in their everyday lives. English for Women sessions provide a friendly and welcoming environment for women with little or no English to improve their conversational skills, gain an understanding of British culture so they can integrate into their local community, feel more at ease and can develop a sense of belonging. All sessions are free and supported by volunteers. Learning is topic-based so learners can go to as many or as few sessions as they are able, without feeling that they have missed anything.

English for Women initially only held sessions in Chelmsford, which is home to a wide range of nationalities, where they meet four times a week.

Before the pandemic hit they had also setup weekly sessions in Harwich and Goodmayes, supporting over a hundred leaners across the different venues by more than 60 volunteers.

The sessions, which new participants often hear about through word of mouth, transferred online at the start the pandemic. During lockdown the online sessions became a lifeline, for volunteers as well learners. Face-to-face sessions restarted in September 2021. Online sessions continue to take place on Wednesday mornings.

Both volunteers and learners praise the positive effect it has on their lives. "I go in to help the learners but I often find I learn a lot myself," said volunteer Alison. "It's a great community. We are different ages, different nationalities, different religions and different ethnicities, but we are also very much the same," she added.

"I came to England a year ago and I felt lonely and isolated before I came to English for Women," said one learner from Chelmsford.

"English for Women has helped me with speaking about many things...hospital appointments, shops, transport. English for Women makes me feel I am not alone," said another.

English for All is a new session which is being tried in Chelmsford. English for All welcomes men and women in our communities who encounter language barriers.

English for All sessions are run by both male and female volunteers.

English for Women and English for All sessions provide a safe and welcoming environment for all who speak little or no English, regardless of language, culture, religion or nationality.

In March we had an informal church service lead by Lyn and Eleanor. Followed by Tea and Cake in church.

On May 24th we will be hosting our first Cream Tea Afternoon at £4 per person. Price includes 2 homemade scones, homemade jam, fresh clotted cream, Tea or Coffee, and a free refill of your drink. It will be in Upshire Village Hall from 2.00pm - 4.00pm. Please do come along and support us, everyone is welcome.

GUIDE DOGS

Due to Covid restrictions there is now a shortage of guide dogs as the necessary training wasn't able to take place. The breeding programme had to be suspended as puppies were unable to get all the experiences that people would expect them to get. Puppies need to learn to deal with a host of experiences, particularly crowds, which didn't exist during Covid lockdowns. They couldn't be taken into restaurants or other busy places. Guide Dogs aims to create 500 new partnerships this year and eventually 1000 a year.

It is appealing for more help to socialise puppies – to volunteer visit www.guidedogs.org.uk/how-you-can-help/volunteering-for-guidedogs
